Do the Dead Rise?

We all wonder what will happen to us after we die. When a loved one dies, we long to see him or her again after our turn comes. Will we have a glorious reunion with those we love or is death the end of all consciousness?

Jesus taught that life does not end after our bodies die. He made this startling claim: "I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live again." According to the eyewitnesses closest to him, Jesus then demonstrated his power over death by rising from the dead after being crucified and buried for three days. It is this belief that has given hope to Christians for nearly 2000 years.

Jesus' followers wrote that he appeared alive to them after his crucifixion and burial. They claim not only to have seen him but also to have eaten with him, touched him, and spent 40 days with him.

So, could this have been simply a story that grew over time, or is it based upon solid evidence? The answer to this question is foundational to Christianity. For if Jesus did rise from the dead, it would validate everything he said about himself, about the meaning of life, and about our destiny after death. If Jesus did rise from the dead, then he alone would have the answers to what life is about and what is facing us after we die. On the other hand, if the resurrection account of Jesus is not true, then Christianity would be founded upon a lie.

Many sceptics, including journalist Josh McDowell, have attempted to disprove the resurrection. He wrote "I have come to the conclusion that the resurrection of Jesus Christ is one of the most wicked, vicious, heartless hoaxes ever foisted upon the minds of men, OR it is the most fantastic fact of history." After more than seven hundred hours researching the evidence, he came to the conclusion that the resurrection was true, writing 'The New Evidence That Demands A Verdict', documenting what he discovered. What about you? In McDowell's word, if the resurrection is true, "it is the most fantastic fact of history" because, unlike the leaders of all other religions, Christ remains alive and you can know Him for yourself.

Revd Rosy Ashley

From the Organ Bench

Although north Americans speak (approximately) the same language as we do, it took some time for American hymns to gain popularity in Britain. One of the first to do so was a hymn which has two features which we've spoken of often before in this column – (a) written by a 'one-hit wonder' and (b) one which can be either spoilt or brought to life by the tune it's sung to.

"Take up thy cross, the Saviour said, / If thou wouldst my disciple be: / Deny thyself, the world forsake, / And humbly follow after me." There's a lot of Christian teaching in that one verse, and the hymn goes on to stress the ultimate rewards of following Jesus: 'His strength shall bear thy spirit up, / And brace thy heart, and nerve thine arm.' And taking up his cross will ultimately 'guide thee to a better home, / And lead to victory o'er the grave.'

A good positive message as we go through Lent. This was the work of Charles Everest (1814-1877), who wrote it at the age of 19 and published it in a collection of poems. Very little else is known about what heights Everest may have scaled: he seems to have become a priest in his native Connecticut. But there is something rather distinguished about writing one fine piece of work and then nothing else.

For some reason almost every hymn-book pairs Take up thy cross with a slow, plodding German chorale (usually known as Breslau; author mercifully unknown) which wouldn't encourage people to take up their cross and follow anyone. So it's up to us to find an alternative.

I like to use that lovely Somerset folk-song O waly waly – traditionally the tune for 'The water is wide'. This glorious tune lifts these fine words up and makes us sing them with our hearts. It's easy to pick up, and I've never known anybody complain about using it – especially not in Somerset.

Dear Friends and Neighbours, it's that time of year when our minds turn to our gardens, and so I write to beg you to spare a thought for the Charlton Musgrove village plant sale. When you start sowing seed and tidying up your borders, if you find yourself with too many seedlings, or some extra basal cuttings, then do please pot them up and keep them to one side for the plant sale, which, this year will take place on 4th May, at Charlton Musgrove Village Hall. We'll be doing our usual thing of selling ALL the plants that are donated for £1 a pot and are very much hoping to beat last year's amazing result of £3,000 raised in just three hours! There will be cake, and a raffle too. All proceeds this year to go towards the Raise the Roof appeal for St Stephen's church. With many thanks, and looking forward to seeing lots of tomato, broad bean, runner bean, sweet pea, delphinium.... and many more kinds of seedlings

COFFEE MORNING

The England Family Coffee Morning

A huge Thank You to all the lovely people in the Benefice who supported our fund raising Coffee Morning for The Brain Tumour Charity in any way. You really did us proud yet again.

You sent donations, gave Raffle Prizes, bought Raffle Tickets, donated cakes and then came along and gave donations to eat all the wonderful goodies everyone had made. What amazing friends and neighbours we are blessed with. The house was filled with chatter and laughter. It was lovely catching up with our friends who came from far and wide. All to help raise vital funds into research to find a cure for this awful disease.

We don't have a final figure yet as donations tend to come in after the event but we have raised at least £600. Thank you all once again. The England Family

Later on we could well focus on other displays, such as interesting people in this area, follow up The Bayford Book with more photographs, etc. All ideas welcome!

If you have such a set to "lend" the Hall, please get in touch with Sid Garton on 01963 34808.
